LIFE STRUGGLE
FOR PRISONER.I.W.W. Fight Patrolman for Bandit Who Shoots.Desperado First Tries to Rob Pedestrian.Caught, Three Partners and
"Reds" Aid Him.

Fighting three bandits and a mob of I.W.W. to retain his grip on a fourth bandit, who had just attempted to hold up and rob Thomas Rowland of No. 2724 Oregon street, and who had fired a shot at his victim when he resisted, Patrolman R. Smith was forced to send a riot call to the Central Station early last night.

Just after dark and while hundreds of pedestrians were passing within a few feet, an armed bandit, who later gave the name of Guy Marriam, stepped from an alley way between Main and Los Angeles streets on Fourth street and ordered Mr. Rowland, a wholesale peanut vendor, to throw up his hands. Mr. Rowland endeavored to strike the bandit and the latter opened fire.

After firing one shot the bandit threw his revolver into the alley way and dashed down Fourth street. At Los Angeles street, the fleeing hold-up man encountered W. J. Prochaska of No. 1815 Lakeshore avenue, and following a fight was captured by Patrolman Smith, who ran to the scene after hearing the revolver shot. At the patrol box at Fourth and Main streets, three men attempted to force the patrolman to release his prisoner. Collecting a huge crowd of ruffians and I.W.W., the three men rushed the patrolman and his prisoner shot them the two men to the pavement.

ONLY ONE ARREST.
Clinging to his man, Patrolman Smith fought his way to the patrol box again and sent a riot call to the station. Detectives Kline, Winn and Burgess rushed to the scene in an automobile, and the four officers beat off the crowd, loaded their prisoner into the machine, and drove to Central Station. On account of the number of persons who were attracted by the fight about the patrol box, and who took no part in the riot, the police arrested none, being unable to tell which members of the crowd had taken part in the fight.

When questioned by Detective King, Marriam refused to give any statements, but declared that the three men who attempted to rescue him are friends of his. He refused to give their names. Marriam also stated that he did not attempt to hold up Rowland, although the prisoner was identified by half a dozen persons who saw the attack.

Mr. Rowland told the police that when he was attacked by Marriam, he was on his way to work on Broadway and to take a car for his home. Just as he passed the entrance of the alley on Fourth street, the bandit, with revolver in hand, stepped from the shadows and ordered him to throw up his hands. Mr. Rowland, however, did not obey, and at which the bandit fired a shot into his face; the bullet missed and struck a window in a rooming-house across the street. Throwing down his gun the bandit fled, and Mr. Rowland was captured as he crossed Los Angeles street.

POSSIBLE GANG LEADER.
With the arrest of Marriam, the police declared, because he was in custody the leader of a gang of bandits who have been operating on San Pedro and Los Angeles streets. The fact that three men attempted to take the prisoner from Patrolman Smith shows, the police declare, that he is only one of a number of bandits.

The criminals operating east of Main street are assisted and protected by the I.W.W. element of the city, was made plain to the police last night when the mob which gathered about the patrol box assisted the bandits in the attempted rescue of their partner. Following the struggle, which took place near the patrol box and just before the automobile from the police station drove away with the prisoner, many threats were shouted from the crowd against Mr. Rowland's life, and after the prisoner was locked in the City Jail two detectives were detailed to see Mr. Rowland to his home.

THOUSANDS OF TICKETS.

But they are for Mexican Lottery and Lead Possessors to Jail—They Fleed.

D. J. Terrill and Mrs. I. M. Terrill, his wife, were arrested yesterday afternoon at North Main and Alhambra streets with several thousand lottery tickets in their possession. The arrests followed a chase by Plainclothesmen Hickey and Patrolman Allen. Mr. Terrill and his wife, whom the police say are agents for a Mexican lottery company, were taken immediately before Judge Chambers. They pleaded guilty and asked to be sentenced at once, but were committed to jail until today for sentence.

The Terrills have been under the suspicion of the police for several weeks. They reside at No. 1227 West Thirty-fifth street. For some time the police have noticed that the couple hired a livery rig and weekly visited breweries and workshops in the industrial district. The man was arrested on suspicion and was found to have 500 lottery tickets in his possession. He asked if his wife might be allowed her liberty. Permission was granted by the policemen, but Mrs. Terrill was arrested also after she had gone a few yards with a satchel containing about 25,000 lottery tickets and lists announcing the winning numbers of last week's drawing.

CARD PLAYER STABBED.
Quarrelling over a card game, Lobo Glick, an Austrian, late last night stabbed and seriously injured Pete Grubovic, another Austrian, in the latter's rooms at No. 418 Ord street. Following the fight, Glick fled and to a late hour last night had not been arrested. At the Receiving Hospital, where Grubovic was taken for treatment, Police Surgeon Elmer declared the man has little chance for recovery.

Men and Women Who have had

European War to Tell About it at So Much Per Admission, All the Proceeds to go to Sufferers.

Unique among the enterprises for the raising of funds for the succor of the starving millions of Belgium, the tone and salient function of the old French salon will be revived Saturday evening at the Ebell Clubhouse by a "conversation," in which witty and brilliant talkers will discuss the significance of the European war.

The affair is under the patronage of society leaders and the hall of conversation will be tossed lightly back and forth by persons who saw the lighting of the fires of martial wrath sweeping their reluctant way across Europe. Among those who will participate in the recrudescence of an art which seemingly died with the salons of Mme. de Staël, Recamier, Violette de Brin and De Girardin are Bishop Johnson, Miss Rachel Buhner, Dr. William Horace Day, Dr. H. G. Brainerd, Miss Beulah Wright, R. W. Richardson, Mrs. F. R. Thorpe and Mrs. J. P. Fitzgerald.

As the tempo of the drip of delightful conversation, there will be a harp solo by Miss Myrtle Ouellet, and possibly a piano solo by Lester Donahue. Tickets for the affair are on sale at the hotels and in all the music stores. Late comers may also purchase tickets at the Ebell Clubhouse Saturday evening.

The list of patrons and patronesses includes Mr. and Mrs. J. Alken, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Clark, Mr. and Mrs. George I. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Eli P. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. E. All Soap Believed Susceptible to Tax Owning to Its Alleged Cosmetic Properties.

A druggist of this city ran up against an interesting situation at the office of Collector Carter, when he called to secure stamps for articles in his store, yesterday.

He has a lot of soap, on his shelves and in the showcases, that he offers for sale, and some of it is recommended as possessing properties of value to the complexion.

The druggist was told that in such a case the soap would be taxable as a cosmetic, and that the tax would be one-eighth of a cent on a five-cent cake of soap of that kind.

Ordinary soap is not taxable, but if it makes a cosmetic, in any way,
it is valuable for the complexion,
it becomes a cosmetic, and is taxable.

Under the ruling about the only variety of soap that is not taxable is the old-fashioned kind that mother used to make in the back yard out of wood ashes and lye. Nobody ever claimed that was good for the complexion.

Your Own Druggist Will Tell You
The reason for this is that the soap is made of soap that is not taxable because it is not a cosmetic. Write for

ADVENTUROUS RESIDUE CHAM-BER FOR BOOKINGS.

Loading of Southern California
Contribution Will Begin Monday.
as Relief Boat has been Delayed in the North—Last Call Issued to the Chitable.

Strange as it may seem, and though Californians are peace-loving and neutral in regard to the European war, Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce has been besieged with men and boys who want to take the trip with the relief ship Camino to developed nations. The delay in applicants to "help distribute the food" have pressed their services to the front.

Secretary Wiggins informed all that no local representative will accompany the California ship, as the cargo is consignable directly into the hands of the American commission abroad, which has the only facilities for proper distribution that is possible to provide, and that the cargo is being shipped by the ton and its safe arrival
insured.

While undoubtedly several million suffering Belgians would make almost any sacrifice for a chance to come to Sunny California, without any charge,
the case manifests a spirit of adventure unexpected by the Relief Committee. The delay in the ship is due to the fact that the cargo is being shipped by the ton and its safe arrival
insured.

DONATIONS CONTINUE.
Several welcome donations were received yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce, and numerous shipments also were received at the wharf. A total of 180 tons was ready on the wharf last evening, with several hundred tons more moving toward the harbor
by rail. The Chamber of Commerce, in accordance with its promise to expense all cash contributions toward the relief of the war, has secured a money order for $100,000, which was bought at cost or less-than-cost prices, consisting largely of flour, beans, condensed milk and other articles donated by the donors, and is being sent to the ship especially prepared for export.

Every day the Chamber of Commerce receives at the Chamber of Commerce aggregated $395.25, including $90 additional from the retail jewellers and $27 additional from employees of the Santa Fe general offices.

If tardy contributors continue during the next few days to send in foodstuffs and cash to the Chamber of Commerce to feed the helpless non-combatants in Belgium, the share given by Southern California toward the cargo of the Camino will be a highly creditable one.

The need of the wintergripped women and children in the devastated area is appalling, according to reports from the extra days
in which to gather supplies is welcomed by the members of the Relief Committee, who have been hastening contributions with all possible speed.

The relief ship will arrive at Los Angeles harbor next Monday, immediately unloading certain materials brought from the Atlantic and carried by to San Francisco by mistake, then will take on the Southern's great tonnage of flour, beans, rice, dried fruits, condensed milk and canned goods. The vessel will probably get away Tuesday, making no other stop before Rotterdam, Holland, where the American commission will rush the goods under special arrangement agreed upon with all the warring powers to the woefully bereft and dying non-combatants in the zone where food cannot even be bought at any price.

Inasmuch as several hundred persons will accompany the ship, who have already been appealed to, have not yet been heard from, Chairman Story and Secretary Frank Wiggins of the Relief Committee yesterday expressed the hope that these would rush their contributions along to the Chamber of Commerce to insure a full-capacity cargo on the Camino.

If They Don't.

Board, and tonight at a meeting of the Municipal League.

TO SHOW HOW, WHERE.
The meeting of the Board of Public Works this morning is for the purpose of showing that body how and where the city may save $1,000,000 annually upon public improvements.
He was to have met with the board yesterday, but Capt. Osborne, one of the commissioners, was attending the funeral of Maj. Klokke and the Burks session was postponed until this morning.

At noon Mr. Burks will address the Board at its luncheon at the Alexandria. He will be supplemented by City Attorney Stephens and by Councilman Conwell, both favorable to the city manager plan.

Mayor Rose, although announcing his inability to attend the luncheon, will have a strong representation in the persons of President Handler of the Board of Public Works and President Whiffen of the City Council.
When it comes to answering the arguments to be presented by Mr.
Burks, the Mayor sent his regrets
as did the other commissioners. Mr.
Mearns, Whiffen and Handley, who were asked to take his place, responded with apparent alacrity.

MAY BE WARM.
The debate promises to be warm on account of the well-known divergence of opinions upon the part of the different speakers. Mr. Burks has assured the board that he will say what he has to say on all the questions relating to his advocated corrections of the city's economic operations.

Mr. Burks yesterday took occasion to deny the charges of President Del Valls of the Public Service Commission that he is violating civil service rules by advocating measures publicly. He points to the ordinance creating the Public Service Commission, the right and rather encourages him to discuss and explain all measures tending toward a higher degree of efficiency.

Tonight at the Municipal League meeting at the Hotel Clark he will talk on all the amendments and answer questions.DRIVES AWAY

SCHOOLS' FAIR
NAME UPHELD.Teachers Indignantly Resent
Immorality Charges.Judge Taft is Quoted as One Besmirching Children.Superintendent Declares the Indictment Criminal.

Defending the honor, integrity and good reputation of the more than 10, 000 boys and girls who are attending the Los Angeles public schools, members of the High School and Intermediate School Principals' Committee yesterday afternoon explored the fact that publicity had been given to certain charges attacking the virtues of the children, and took steps to establish beyond peradventure that no city in the United States can boast of schools where the standard of morality is higher than it is here.

The committee's meeting, which was called for the purpose of hearing Mrs. Berthold Baruch, vice-president of the Los Angeles Society of Social Hygiene, and a member of the City Board of Education, in reference to her published statements that conditions in the Los Angeles schools are deplorably bad and that to co-education may be the cause of the moral deficiencies which she claims exist, was marked by a feeling of resentment and indignation. To these was added amazement when Mrs. Baruch related a conversation which she said she had had with Superintendent Taft.

ASKS JUDGE TAFT.
"Declaring to have some facts to lay before this committee," Judge Taft this morning if he could cite any instances which might prove of value in the discussion of the school problem," Mrs. Baruch said. "He studied for a few moments and then told me I might relate to you the story of a man who made application not long ago to a maternity institution for a child for adoption.
The head of the institution told the inquirer that there were no children there at that time, but added, 'come around in two or three months when the High School girls have their babies here and there will be plenty of little ones here.'"

Members of the committee were stunned and for a few minutes were unable to comprehend the gravity of such a statement purported to have been made by a judge of the superior court. When the full realization of its effect was felt the teachers expressed wonder and surprise and said a committee would be named to visit Judge Taft at the earliest opportunity. The Judge could not be reached last night to give an answer.

EMBARRASSING.
Mrs. Baruch prefaced her remarks on "Co-education and Immorality in the Schools" with the statement that she appeared before the committee with some humility, and at the conclusion said she had never subjected herself to a more humiliating or embarrassing ordeal in her life. "I feel some of the teachers were prone to place Mrs. Baruch on the witness stand, as we stand, as principal House of the Los Angeles High School, and chairman of the committee rescued her from many uncomfortable situations by admonishing the mob abandoned in mind Mrs. Baruch's declaration that her activities in the premises were actuated by a pure motive."

Mrs. Baruch made many serious charges but in nearly every instance she used the initials of the school names of the persons from whom she said she had received her information, and she asked if she could establish the truth of any of the statements she admitted that she was not in a position to do so at present, but said she would furnish the committee with the names of all parties concerned.
The names of the school officials showed particular interest in making charges without being able to establish them, but decided to appoint a committee to act on the statements investigating all of the statements made by Mrs. Baruch and will be constituted chiefly of vice-principals of the schools.

SAYS IT IS CRIMINAL.
Superintendent Taft is especially bitter in his defense of the schools. "Such charges of immorality cast a shadow on every girl in our schools," he said. "It is criminal. I feel that I can't make anything else out of it.
Even if it has been said in a true spirit, it is a crime to say it. I feel before the public." Personally, I feel that the charges are baseless. In fact,
I feel that it is a crime to say it.
The standard of morality in our schools is the highest. The schools are a masterpiece of morality which we have in this city. The schools are the saving grace for morality. I think the charges are unfair to the schools, and to the students. Very few have been in the interests of the boys and girls of our schools."

Mrs. Dorsey, assistant Superintendent of Schools, said: "I told the schools that are responsible for the immorality of the children. The auto, telephone, and motorcycle are the greatest influences for bad," she declared.

PARENTS TO BLAME.
Dr. Harriet Gephart Probasco, whose duty it is to treat and examine the children brought under the care of the juvenile department, attended the meeting upon invitation. She said her experience with delinquents showed that the fault does not rest with the schools; that in nearly every case the trouble can be traced to improper training at home, the parents being almost invariably to blame.
"Last year I saw a child brought before the juvenile court," she said.
"Only last week a mother and a professor of the law brought the former's daughter, 17 years old, to me for examination. The mother was heartbroken, but I felt like telling her she had brought it on herself. The girl was a real beauty, but she was a leech on her mother's life. She was entirely dependent on her mother for her living. She was a real beauty, but she was a leech on her mother's life.
This girl has never been properly trained for or protected at home."

Mrs. Frank Stoddard, a member of the City Board of Education, said that she does not concur in the statements of Mrs. Baruch in the latter's ideas as to the cause of the immorality of the children. She declared that the blame for immorality of the children largely rests with the parents and their home surroundings.
Principal House said reports indicating the public schools on charges of

To these was added amazement when Mrs. Baruch related a conversation which she said she had had with Superior Judge Taft.

Mrs. Baruch prefaced her remarks with a statement that she was a "Co-educator and Immorality in the Schools" with the statement that she appeared before the committee with some humility, and at its conclusion said she had never subjected herself to a more humiliating or embarrassing ordeal in her life. While most of the teachers were prone to believe Mrs. Baruch on the witness stand, as it were, Principal Housh of the Los Angeles High School and chairman of the committee rescinded her from many uncomfortable situations in admonishing the members to keep their minds clear of the statement that her activities in the premises were actuated by a pure motive.

Mrs. Baruch made many serious charges but in nearly every instance she used the initials instead of the names of the persons from whom she said she had received her information, and when asked if she could establish the truth of any of the accusations she admitted that she was not in a position to do so at present, but said she would gladly furnish the committee with the evidence she has and the names of all parties concerned.

The committee showed particular animosity toward the spirit of making charges without being able to establish them, but decided to appoint a committee to act with Mrs. Baruch in investigating all of the statements she had made. This committee will be named by Principal Housh and will consist chiefly of vice-principals of the schools.

SAYS IT IS CRIMINAL.

Supt. Francis was especially bitter in his defense of the schools. "Such charges of immorality cast a reflection on every girl in our schools," he said. "It is nothing short of criminal to make anything out of it. Even if all that has been said is true, what is to be gained by flaunting it before the public? Personally I feel that the charges are baseless. In fact, I believe if it were not for the high standard of morality in our schools that the city of Los Angeles would be a masterpiece of immorality which would be terrible. The schools are saving grace for morality. I think the charges are unfair to the schools, to the women whose very hearts have been torn in the interests of the boys and girls of our schools."

Mrs. Dorsey, assistant Superintendent of Schools, said it is not the schools that are responsible for the downfall of any of the children. "The radio, telephone and motorcycle are the greatest influences for bad," she declared.

PARENTS TO BLAME.

Dr. Harriet Gephart Probasco, whose duty it is to treat and examine the children brought under the care of the juvenile department, attended the meeting upon invitation. She said her experience with delinquents showed that the fault does not rest with the schools; that in nearly every case the trouble can be traced to improper training at home, the parents being almost invariably to blame.

"Last year 5400 children were brought into the juvenile court," she said. "Only last week a mother and a probation officer brought the former's daughter, 17 years old, to me for examination. The mother was heartbroken, but I felt like telling her she had brought it on herself. No mother has the right to go to a theater and leave her young daughter at home to entertain a young man. This young girl's dress was so outrageously loud that she looked like a caricature. Her face was ablaze with rouge and paint. This girl has never been properly cared for or protected at home."

Mrs. Frank Stoddard, a member of the committee that she does not concur in the blame for immorality of the children, said she believed in co-education and also that the blame for immorality of the children largely rests with the parents and the home surroundings.

Principal Housh said reports indicating the public schools on charges of fostering immorality do infinite harm and absolutely no good unless something tangible is given the teachers upon which to work.

Mrs. Baruch, who has been very active in the work connected with the Social Hygiene Society, of which Dr. Elbert Wing is president, promised the committee she will do all within her power to assist it in getting to the bottom of the charges she has made. Dr. Wing is also president of the Municipal League, which has been leading a trivial campaign against the administration of Supt. Francis.

David Lubin, the world's foremost figure in agricultural reform, will address the Realty Board at luncheon today at the Alexandria, on the necessity of organizing a national clearinghouse for market information in the United States.

"The matter which I am going to present to the people of Los Angeles through your representative Realty Board is best understood by the German designation of Landwirtschaftsrat," Mr. Lubin said last night. "But this is not an eccentric German name which may be sport for a schoolboy, it is a sublime message and lesson to this wonderful world which should better understand fully solve the problems of the people inasmuch as they are directly or indirectly related to agriculture, the foundation of our country's prosperity and progress. On October 2, I had been living ten years in Rome as the delegate of the United States to the International Institute of Agriculture. And it has been in that capacity that I have had the opportunity to observe the German Landwirtschaftsrat in successful operation and to formulate a plan based upon it by which similar American organization might be established. I am working for something that has no stomach, no head, no ears, nor hands nor feet—it is not human at all, it is an ideal. And this is the ideal of the American republic advancing with the torch of progress and civilization in its hand, enlightening the rest of the world to which it, of all countries, must now be the monitor. The economic condition of the United States is serious whether or not it is known by the people. There are too many land renters in this republic and not enough land owners. Crowd your farmers out of home and land and you ruin the country. The American republic falls away as did Rome when it ceased to respect and protect its husbandry."

ARKS JUDGE TAFT.

"Desiring to have some facts by before this committee, I asked Judge Taft the following questions: 'Would you please state to me any instances which might prove of value in the discussion of the school-girl problem?' Mrs. Baruch said: 'He studied for a few moments and then told me I might relate to you the story of a man who made application not long ago to a maternity institution for a child for adoption. The head of the institution told the mother that there were no children there at that time, but added, 'come around in two or three months when the High School girls have left their babies here and there will be plenty of little ones here.'"

Members of the committee were stunned and for a few minutes unable to comprehend the gravity of such a statement purported to have been made by a Judge of the Superior Court. When the full realization of its effect was felt the teachers expressed profound surprise and said a committee would be named to visit Judge Taft at the earliest opportunity. The judge could not be reached last night to give an explanation.

EMBARASSING.

Mrs. Baruch prefaced her remarks with a statement that she was a "Co-educator and Immorality in the Schools" with the statement that she appeared before the committee with some humility, and at its conclusion said she had never subjected herself to a more humiliating or embarrassing ordeal in her life. While most of the teachers were prone to believe Mrs. Baruch on the witness stand, as it were, Principal Housh of the Los Angeles High School and chairman of the committee rescinded her from many uncomfortable situations in admonishing the members to keep their minds clear of the statement that her activities in the premises were actuated by a pure motive.

SAYS IT IS CRIMINAL.

Supt. Francis was especially bitter in his defense of the schools. "Such charges of immorality cast a reflection on every girl in our schools," he said. "It is nothing short of criminal to make anything out of it. Even if all that has been said is true, what is to be gained by flaunting it before the public? Personally I feel that the charges are baseless. In fact, I believe if it were not for the high standard of morality in our schools that the city of Los Angeles would be a masterpiece of immorality which would be terrible. The schools are saving grace for morality. I think the charges are unfair to the schools, to the women whose very hearts have been torn in the interests of the boys and girls of our schools."

Mrs. Dorsey, assistant Superintendent of Schools, said it is not the schools that are responsible for the downfall of any of the children. "The radio, telephone and motorcycle are the greatest influences for bad," she declared.

PARENTS TO BLAME.

Dr. Harriet Gephart Probasco, whose duty it is to treat and examine the children brought under the care of the juvenile department, attended the meeting upon invitation. She said her experience with delinquents showed that the fault does not rest with the schools; that in nearly every case the trouble can be traced to improper training at home, the parents being almost invariably to blame.

"Last year 5400 children were brought into the juvenile court," she said. "Only last week a mother and a probation officer brought the former's daughter, 17 years old, to me for examination. The mother was heartbroken, but I felt like telling her she had brought it on herself. No mother has the right to go to a theater and leave her young daughter at home to entertain a young man. This young girl's dress was so outrageously loud that she looked like a caricature. Her face was ablaze with rouge and paint. This girl has never been properly cared for or protected at home."

Mrs. Frank Stoddard, a member of the committee that she does not concur in the blame for immorality of the children, said she believed in co-education and also that the blame for immorality of the children largely rests with the parents and the home surroundings.

FOUR CAVE-INS; LABORER LIVES.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 2.—Philip Boros, a Greek laborer of Los Angeles, employed by Joseph Chatuk of that city, who has the contract for laying the main-line sewers in this city, had a very narrow escape from death this morning. He and two other laborers were working in a trench nineteen and one-half feet deep on Atlanta street. The excavation was through sand from about five feet below the surface, and no sheet piling had been used to prevent the sides of the trench from caving in.

The earth gave way near the bottom of the trench and Boros was covered with about four feet of sand for seventeen minutes before his head was uncovered. And afterwards three other cave-ins covered the unfortunate man again for five or six minutes each time. He was uncovered by his chest and a rope placed under his arms and other workmen pulled him out. Boros was not seriously injured.

When uncovered he was conscious and directed the relief work.

He is 22 years of age and this is the second time he has been in a trench where a cave-in occurred.

JOBS FOR UNEMPLOYED.

Government May and May not be Able to Satisfy Wants of the Unemployable.

Letters from the Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., have been sent to the officers here designated by Secretary Wilson, to have charge of the paternal scheme of the government, having for its object securing jobs for the unemployed, asking for information in regard to labor conditions in this part of the State.

The information, in line with similar knowledge sought elsewhere all over the country, is expected will form the groundwork of the proposed plan to secure work for applicants, concerning which even the men set apart for the particular work have yet to learn all about.

When Commissioner-General of Immigration Cammett was in Los Angeles some time ago, he gave out an interview in regard to the ultimate objects of the government, but since that time nothing has been heard of the Utopian idea.

The plan as advocated by the commissioner is universally regarded as impracticable outside of government employees who have but little if any information on the subject, unless forsooth Uncle Sam proposes engaging in the business of employment agent on a mammoth scale, and expending immense amounts of money to get work for those who in many cases don't want it, and who will not hold a job, no matter what the circumstances or the pay.

INVESTIGATION STILL ON.

Manager of Sight-Seeing Company? Language in Jail as Postoffice Inspectors Complete Work.

The postoffice inspectors are still investigating the affairs of the Southern California Sight-Seeing Company, whose manager, J. N. Braun, is in the County Jail, in default of furnishing $1500 bond.

Charles L. Boone, a clerk employed in the Baltimore Hotel, is president of the corporation, but on legal advice he yesterday refused to give Postoffice Inspector Webster any information bearing on the business of the concern.

It developed yesterday that Mr. Braun has been depositing his money in the German-American Trust and Savings Bank, and there is now in the hands of the authorities checks aggregating $450 deposited in that bank in the name of M. E. Braun, his wife. One of the checks is countersigned J. N. Braun, H. C. Braun, who is Miss Helen C. Braun, daughter of the couple and M. E. Braun, the wife and mother.

The records show that the Southern California Sight-Seeing Company is a California corporation, with a capital stock of $75,000, and that the original incorporators are Charles L. Boone and A. C. Mentry of this city, and John W. Kleinham of Sidney, Mont. Each of the three directors hold one share of stock, and Mr. Boone has admitted that his share was presented to him. The incorporation papers of the company were filed in this city January 9, 1914.

COMPROMISE OFF IN WATER FIGHT?

COUNTER PLAN OF RIVERSIDE MAY NOT PLEASE SAN BERNARDINO.

(BY DEBBY WING—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 2.—Steps to compromise the differences of San Bernardino and Riverside over the rights of the latter city in developing domestic water from the San Bernardino Valley artesian basin, took a backward move today. Replying to the plans offered by the local officials toward amicably settling the case out of court, Riverside today asked that the suit now in court to restrain Riverside from sinking new wells in the Antil tract be held in abeyance until it was ascertained if plans to spread the water from the water-wells in the eastern end of the valley to replenish the Antil basin proved a success or failure.

At a conference here recently, Mayor Catie offered to call off the court action if Riverside would agree to the wells and not increase the supply. Officials would not tonight intimate what action San Bernardino would take as a result of the counter proposition from Riverside. It is now thought the injunction proceedings will go ahead.

MAY KNOW FATE TODAY.

It is expected that sentence will be imposed this afternoon in Judge Wellborn's court upon Clifton Culver and others connected with the smuggling of thirty Chinese contrabands into the country near Wilmington last March. The arguments were concluded yesterday.

Oil Treatment for Stomach Troubles

A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist, who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say that the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy, is now sold by first class druggists everywhere. It is now sold here by all druggists.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(AT HOME.) At the close of the day's activity is reflected in the demand for both copper and pig iron, the former metal touching 13 cents with a good inquiry from home consumers. Dealing in stocks and bonds was of a much wider variety, many of the lesser active issues being dealt in for the first time, at normal to advancing prices. Short-term notes were in especial demand, due principally to the ease of the money market. The Middle West was a large buyer of all kinds of securities. Several other exchanges were opened for business. Exporters continue to demand our wheat and to bid up prices nearly a cent. Sweden, the rest of the neutral countries to ask a loan of $5,000,000, which means the sum will be left here to offset purchases by that country.

(ABROAD.) Denmark has officially notified its Minister in the United States that it will be diverted to America and that representatives are now en route to make arrangements for extensive purchases. (For details see financial page.)

THE EASTERN MARK.

The city is now teeming with tourists. It is easy to pick the women out. They wear the winter stuff of the East. By their turns ye shall know them.

WARD TO FIND.

The czar of Russia and the Kaiser of Germany are with their respective armies on the firing line. The King of Belgium is at the front, and King George of England is in France. The first thing you know it will be impossible to locate a king just when you most need him.

NO END TO IT.

The milk and cheese produced in California this year will sell for $24,000,000. The figure has not been boosted by the fact that Germany is no longer exporting hamburger. Almost every issue of the local newspapers has an estimate on what some of California's many products will amount to for the year. The total is enough to stagger the world.

A LOST ART.

A dear lady at Pasadena has set the fashion of knitting socks in church. We are tempted to say that we don't care where they knit them, so long as they do. When they get them finished they may send them to the starving Belgians. We remember the hand-knit yarn socks of the past with affection, but as far as California is concerned this comfortable hostility is welcome to remain in memory.

HOUSTON A SEAPORT.

Houston, Tex., is not content that Galveston shall be the only seaport in the state. Houston decided to join with the federal government in the construction of a ship canal fifty-one miles long and twenty-five feet deep, through which steamers of a large, although not of the largest, size can carry to the sea the product of her factories and fields. This canal is now completed, and Houston is to all intents a seaport city.

THE WONDER LARK.

The French call it the allouette. It is no bigger than a blackbird and is the daintiest of all game fowl. It comes in flocks of from 100 to 1000 and has a stupid habit which makes it the easy prey of the hunter. Shoot one of them and those that escape will fly in a circle and return to the identical spot that they may again invite the deadly fire of the sportsman. Only twice in fifteen years has this remarkable bird made its appearance in Southern California. Last week, for the third time, a very few were sighted by an experienced hunter. Keep your eyes peeled, therefore, for you may have a chance for the slaughter of this delicious little visitor. We blush at this advice since so many of our readers have no appetite for murder.

NEW BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

One of the excuses made by Roosevelt and his followers for disrupting the National Republican Convention of 1912 was the system of unequal numerical representation by which Southern States, which had not for thirty-five years returned a Republican elector, were accorded a potential, if not a controlling, voice in the framing of a platform and the nomination of candidates.

The truth is that the number of Republican votes cast at a previous election should be the basis of representation. This truth has now been recognized by the Republican National Committee. The call for the convention of 1916 will be on the new basis which reduces the number of delegates by eighty-nine. Seventy-nine of the loss falls on eleven Southern States, eight on the Territories and two on New York.

Republican conventions in six Southern States and in fifteen Northern States have approved the action of the committee. "The new plan," said Chairman Hillier, "will eliminate conflicts between the rules of the party and the laws of several States and will reduce the number of contesting delegations. The system of unequal numerical representation, against which many States constantly contended, was the legacy of years of political custom and therefore not in any way identified with the convention of 1912."

ARE READERS DECREASING?

Some people claim that novelties and pleasures in life are diminishing the numbers of readers. The automobile and the moving pictures are said by some to be attracting attention away from books. Whether this is true, or whether it is that the motors and movies are merely receiving homage from those who found no particular enjoyment in reading, is a question that may not be definitely settled by a positively expressed opinion.

The facts are that, while automobiles and moving pictures are drawing innumerable people from all classes of society, there has been no perceptible decrease in the number of books published. Something over 1000 new books a month, year in and year out, are poured into the United States. Thousands upon thousands of novels are put onto the market and absorbed. Publishers could not put them out if they were not purchased.

It is also true that the Los Angeles Public Library, during the past year, has made the greatest increase in circulation of any library in the United States and therefore, probably, of any library in the world. So it is evident that readers of books are not diminishing in number in Southern California. And there will find much to interest them in the Annual Holiday Book Number of The Times which will appear in magazine form next Sunday. The latest books of scores of prominent novelists will be reviewed; special articles will deal with various treatises on many subjects; none of the books have previously been reviewed in The Times. The Holiday Book Number is not a rebash of books that have been discussed in The Times—it is a wholly new and original estimate of the most prominent books among the fall publications.

DEFENSE OF DEGENERATES.

The theory of the editor of the Morning Sodomite and the Evening Degenerate seems to be that those who violate the laws of God and man should be protected from punishment and sheltered from publicity, while those newspapers whose proprietors publish the news, and by so doing aid decent people to avoid ignorantly contaminating their households with well-dressed, cultivated Pharisaical moral lepers, are to be denounced as "brutal journalists."

The Tootpious system is to coddle criminals, to conceal their crimes, and to denounce those who expose crime as "brutal journalists." The system of The Times is to publish the news, and if the news includes an account of the misdoings of a lot of pretentious Pharisees, who are as lecherous as goats and as conscienceless as jackasses in April, the acts of the evildoers will be exposed, notwithstanding the purchased defense of the editor of the Morning Sodomite and Evening Degenerate.

MINIMUM WAGE LAW INVALID.

As the constitutional validity of State-made minimum-wage laws has been called into question from time to time by men who gave their opinions public expression the decision of Judge Catlin of the Minnesota District Court that such a law is unconstitutional comes as something which many have been expecting, from one source or another, ever since the enactment of such legislation.

The principal ground upon which the decision rests is that the law abridges the right of individuals to make contracts and is therefore in violation of that part of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which says that "no State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

It was always contended that a minimum-wage law must have the effect of abridging the right of individuals to give their labor in exchange for such compensation as they may be able to obtain and are willing to accept. As soon as a minimum wage is established by law all whom force of conditions or circumstances may temporarily or always prevent from demanding or securing compensation as high as the minimum must remain unemployed. Thus they are deprived of the right of earning a livelihood.

The contention of the supporters of minimum-wage law is that anything less than the minimum fixed is insufficient for a livelihood. But is not that something to be determined by the individuals concerned? In any case there is the constitutional principle that the privileges of individuals shall not be abridged.

Because the Constitution of the United States has been brought into this case by the ruling of the Minnesota court the question will probably be carried to the Federal courts. Then the United States Supreme Court will make the ultimate decision.

CONFISCATORY TAXATION.

A lady living in Los Angeles is the owner of four pieces of house property, one in this city, one in Reno, Nev., one in Lewiston, Idaho, and one in Clinton, Mass. Each piece rents at $25 per month. To pay taxes, insurance, water rates and repairs requires six weeks' rent of the Los Angeles property, three months' rent of the Reno property, five months' rent of the Lewiston property and ten months' rent of the Clinton, Mass., property.

The cause of the high tax rate in Massachusetts and Idaho is extravagance. Whenever the public officials saw anything that would improve the town they didn't ask if the property owners could afford it. They went ahead and had the money appropriated and the result was a high tax rate.

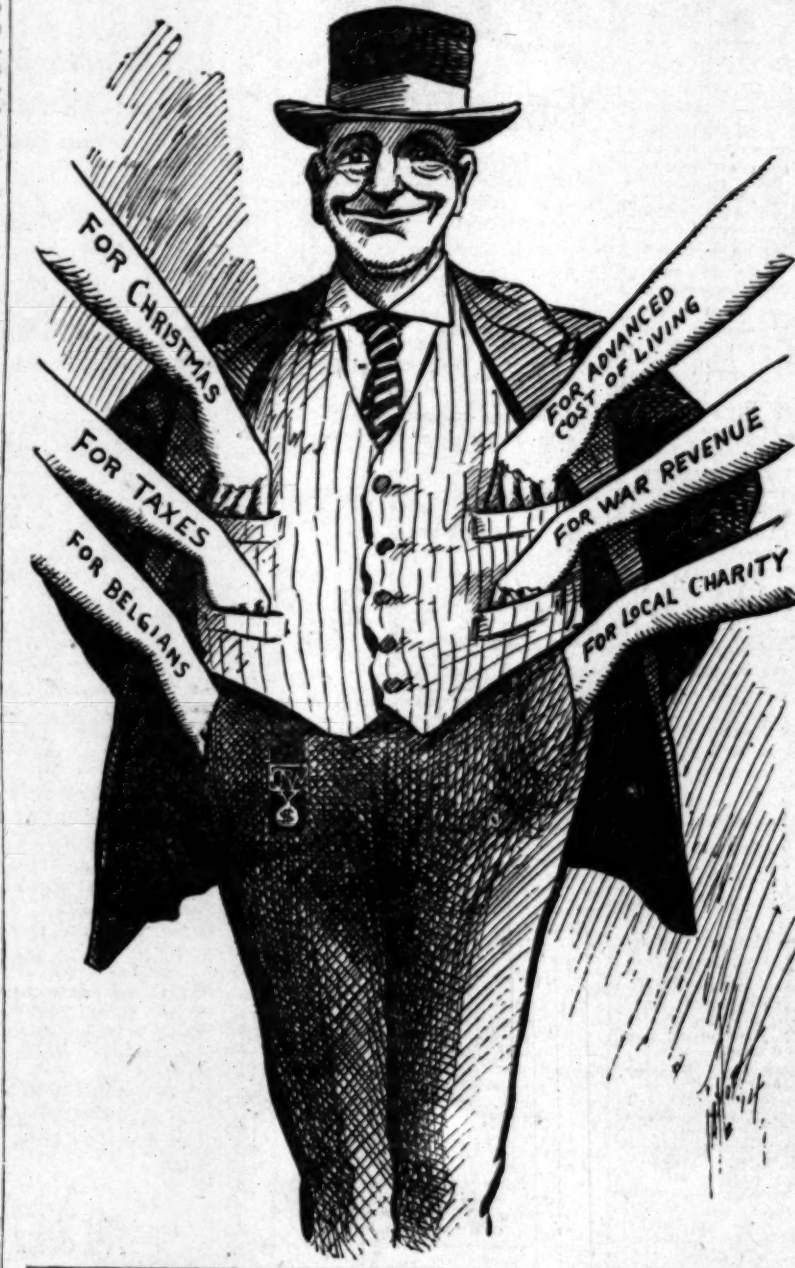

NATIONAL DEBTS AND RESOURCES.

The debt of Great Britain in 1910-11 was $2,527,770,000, about $25 per capita and a little more than 3 per cent of her national wealth. The debt of France was $6,250,791,000, about $150 per capita and more than 10 per cent of her national wealth. The debt of Russia was $4,650,607,000, about $30 per capita and more than 11 per cent of her national wealth.

The debt of Germany was $4,894,013,000, about $52 per capita and about 8 per cent of her national wealth. The debt of Austria-Hungary was $2,158,616,000, about $44 per capita and about 9 per cent of her national wealth.

Compared with any European nation the United States makes a wonderfully favorable showing. Our national debt in 1910-11 was $1,037,575,000, about $11.30 per capita and less than three-fourths of 1 per cent of our national wealth.

It is estimated that the present war in Europe, if continued for four months longer, will double the national debt of Great Britain and Austria-Hungary, add 50 per cent to that of Germany and Russia, and 40 per cent to that of France.

When the war shall cease and settling day comes, what will be the worth of the national obligations of the defeated, or even of the victorious powers? What were revolutionary assignments worth after the surrender of Cornwallis? What was Confederate currency worth after Appomattox?

GET ON THE GRASS.

One difference between New York and Los Angeles is that in the latter city every worker, however limited his wages and however humble his avocation, can have a pretty little home of his own and a grass plot where his young barbarians can roll and tumble and somersault and shriek with joy. While in the City of New York there are no bungalows and no grass plots and when, after a walk or a street car ride of miles, on Sundays, paterfamilias conducts his offspring to where there are parks arrayed in living green, the first thing they see is a sign inviting them to "keep off the grass."

The rain of yesterday has washed clean the faces of Los Angeles lawns and the grass is saying to us all, "Come and roll." Don't we envy the children who accept the invitation? Don't we wish that we could take off our coats and kick off our shoes and, like Antaeus of old, gather strength from the nurturing bosom of our mother the earth? Let New Yorkers obey the sign of "keep off the grass," but Angelenos will suffer no such scurvy and inhospitable warning to be erected on their lawns. On the contrary they invite gray-bearded age and frolicsome youth, stout matrons and radiant maidens to come and take a roll on the grass.

A N AGREEMENT.

A big water conference for the benefit of land under the Colorado, and especially the Imperial Valley, will be held at Washington December 8. Some of our biggest and busiest men are giving their time to this meeting. We feel like uttering a word of warning in their behalf. It is this. Most conferences of this kind fall through the fault of the people who are to be benefited by them. It is almost impossible to get the people themselves to agree to a feasible plan which Congress might adopt; and it is quite impossible to get before a Congressional committee and get anything if those who go are not agreed upon what they want. Washington is no place to carry a local fight. Such questions should be threshed out at home. We are not aware that there is any point of disagreement at present on the question of government aid in the control of the Colorado River, but we are mindful of the fact that really big and important questions are often defeated through the fault to which we here call attention. If the government is to give the help which it should to the people who are affected there should be no trouble in uniting the beneficiaries.

The new local Southern Pacific station has been thrown open to the public without any sort of ceremony and under a new management just as many trains run out at one end as go in at the other. Wonderful, most wonderful!

Arizona having voted against the abolition of capital punishment, eleven murders will be executed simultaneously at Phoenix on December 12. Can anything more horrible be imagined?

THE UNSOLVED PROBLEM.

BY MRS. I. LOWENBERG.

Of all the unsolved problems that have agitated the human mind from time immemorial one has been to make provision for the poor. Intellectual and philanthropic giants have grappled with this vital problem, but you all know the quotation about "Fools rushing in where angels fear to tread."

It is the duty of everyone to ameliorate the condition of the poor without impairing their self-respect. This dignity of character can only be acquired and maintained by honest labor, not by subsisting on the earnings or the generosity of the benevolent. The claim that "all have a right to exist" is true, but this condition is balanced by "every right involving a corresponding duty." Money may be a good servant, but a bad master—the thing is that it should be used to the best advantage; for capital can be rendered a dynamic power for good or evil. The batteries of legislation should be turned against monopolies, syndicates and the crystallization, but not against the accumulation of wealth.

Everything can be used for good or evil—it is the way that things are applied. Gunpowder is a great invention and when used for blasting purposes is a great benefit to mankind; but when employed to propel bullets brings destruction and death. Metternich wisely and truly observes, "There are no more political questions, there are only social questions." We are standing on the brink of a volcano and no number of soup-houses will repress the smoldering fire; it requires more direct, substantial aid. Some plan must be devised by the body politic to make man self-sustaining. Spontaneous charity amounts to nothing, every dollar given to an individual degrades that individual. Every dollar given to an association to provide work in any shape for the unemployed is the initiation of a commendable effort to elevate the poor. This is not iconoclastic—not tearing down without building up; it is simply substituting the workshop for the soup-house. Make your people independent of charity, but dependent upon labor and there will rise up a nation, strong in principle and action, the essential elements of a free and powerful people.

Indiscriminate "relief" originated with the autochthones and continued a long time before even a poor law was enacted. In the early ages the church took care of the poor, but not in the sympathetic and systematized way of today. It is now being gradually transferred as business of the municipality. Christianity gave almost a religious duty, the Talmud as a right of religious and civil law. Many years ago, upon the introduction of relief for the poor, notwithstanding the various methods devised for their suppression, so many paupers sprang up that the police had to arrest them for vagrancy and they were compelled to resort to a law which coerced able-bodied men to work for what they received. Under Elizabeth, in 1572, a local poor rate was established so work could be obtained. No trade scenes were enacted to procure work, but many were branded, according to the cruel punishment of the age, for refusing to work. In feudal times the lord of a town provided for his impoverished subjects; they accepted their services in return—which still left them with a spirit of independence. Pauperism will ever be on the increase if State appropriations and the charities of the rich are not made to flow in the right channel. "Eleemosynary relief," says Charlotte Bronte, "never yet tranquilized the working classes—it never made them grateful—it is not in human nature that it should."

In 1797, in Brandenburg, compulsory labor was imposed upon the people because it was the sure method of obtaining money both from private persons and from the government to furnish work for the unemployed. Preventive charity by endeavoring to provide work for the masses is the great thing to be accomplished. Let our trades unions, mechanical inventions nor other great discoveries of hitherto unknown forces nor eleemosynary institutions have decreased pauperism—on the contrary it is everywhere on the increase. Charity demoralizes, because it eliminates the stamina and self-respect—work elevates man.

Exceptions should be made in regard to the giving of alms and providing institutions—indulgence is claimed for children, the infirm and the aged, and even the mad; the infirm of the latter could be avoided and their independence secured, as in some parts of Europe there is a compulsory insurance for old age, which works with excellent results.

In the evolution of things, institutions as well as laws grow, and there is evolution in the mode of providing for the poor. In Sweden, I think it is a canon in Switzerland, there is already a society started on the principle that "Labor is the best largess." Several persons subscribe so much annually for the purpose of giving out usually fish, hemp, thread, cotton, etc. This is given to be worked up for pay, and the stuff is either sold or distributed among the subscribers at a fair price.

I read recently that thirty-one persons died of actual starvation in London last year, not one applying to the parish authorities for relief. Had there been work they would have asked for it. So in many cases it is the underserving who apply and receive, whereas the pride and sensitiveness of the deserving prevent them from requesting or accepting alms.

It is not the "Man with the Hoe" that cries to the world, but the man without the hoe, who wants work when there is none. The hoe does not make the man the "brother of the ox," but the brother of the man who will rise with new conditions.

Organized associations and public workshops where needy persons can apply and obtain work at minimum prices, not organized charities, are what are required. Work alone is not demoralizing and develops "individual freedom"—the goal we should all seek.

Referendum Record.
[Portland Oregonian:] Massachusetts will know more about the referendum when it has been a little longer tried. The "yes" habit is not a confirmed one, but the "no" habit may well be. Take the case of Oregon.

In 1904 the people adopted all measures submitted (3).
In 1906 they adopted eight out of eleven measures.
In 1908 they adopted twelve out of nineteen.

In 1910 they adopted nine out of thirty-two.
In 1912 they adopted ten out of thirty-seven.
In 1914 they adopted three out of twenty-nine.

Let Massachusetts cheer up. The worst is not yet to come.
[New York World:] If the Germans have lost 1,250,000 men in killed, wounded and missing, as estimated, they have lost the equivalent of the total male population of New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut. And even this, assuming a proportionate loss by the allies and counting in Austria's losses, is only a part of the staggering story of modern war carnage.

Some talk of Hiram Johnson for President in 1916. Don't think he can skin Woodrow for the nomination.

There is a shortage of matches in Germany, but the marriage license bureau of Los Angeles county reports a fairly good supply.

If the good times predicted by the Wilson administration materialize we shall be indulging in baked ostrich at 50 cents a pound.

The Russians have withdrawn their claims of a great victory over the Germans. That Petrograd correspondent ought to be put into irons.

"Sword Blades and Poppy Seeds" is the title of a volume of poems by Amy Lowell. That last sounds like the dream of some opium smoker.

It will be noted that the experts who are fixing the limit of the war in point of time are not at the front. "They kin, if anybody kin, they kin."

Even Republicans are adopting the Democratic slogan, "Thank God for Wilson." He has made a certainty a grand Republican victory in 1916.

It is now claimed that Austria is in favor of peace. In view of what Austria has not accomplished, we don't know but that her position is the natural one.

Princeton students have voted nine to one against compulsory chapel exercises. And isn't this the school where they turn out Presbyterian clergymen?

A writer says that one should pay his taxes as cheerfully as he buys Christmas presents. We don't care to do any knowing, but sometimes one does.

A reader wants to know if it would be proper to go to church wearing a plain or fancy veil. Oh, yes, but there ought to be something on the side as a chaser.

The Kaiser is trying to sell his five-million-dollar palace in Greece. Here is an opportunity for some Los Angeles caterer proprietor to invest his surplus coin.

The stories of the last cruise of the Emden being told by the crew indicate that the Sydney would never have caught her if she had not run out of smokestacks.

Reports from the front indicate that the old men are the real heroes of the European war. Will Dick Oster please write and tell us where a letter will reach him?

The Happy New Year is approaching and it might be in order to suggest that it is not a bit too soon to begin to make out a rough draft of the usual resolutions.

Col. Roosevelt is now being booed for the President by the Prohibitionists. The Mormons are yet to be heard from, not to speak of the Holy Rollers—Long Beach.

William Rockefeller must stand trial on the charge connected with the New Haven Railway. But the first thing will be for the court to appoint an attorney to defend him.

Secretary Bryan refers to the liquor question being a millstone around the neck of the Democratic party. And there are other millstones—the gentleman from Nebraska, for instance.

The New York State Commissioner of Education says we should pay taxes as gladly as we make Christmas presents. And he has an argument too, but we can't follow him, can you?

Just in order to show President Wilson that they are acting in good faith the Mexicans have cut the telegraph line between Vera Cruz and the City of Mexico. That is the Mexican of it.

John D. Rockefeller doesn't care so much about being soaked $10,000 on an oil painting, but the idea of anybody swindling him on anything involving oil no doubt rankles the soul of the old man.

The fact that November exports show a balance of trade in our favor of about $70,000,000 indicates that it is mighty hard to hamstring the American nation, in spite of the Wilson administration.

The revolution in Portugal led by an ex-colonel has been put down. This appears to be a bad time of year for the ex-colonists; we had one in this country who is now gathered with the political fathers.

FAREWELL TO BRAVE SOLDIERS.

By Soldiers.

GRAND ARMY FUNERAL MAJ. KLOCKE

Old-time Friends and Recently Dead Body of the California to the Grave. Thirty Tributes from Organizations.

Three taps on a drum, the toll of soldiers to a soldier's funeral service over the body of Maj. E. F. C. Klocke, a Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral was preceded by the death of the Grand Republic. Ex-Judge G. Jones, Vice-Commander of Post, was in charge, with C. Somers acting as chaplain. Thirty members of the post attended.

Several hundred persons last respects to Maj. Klocke at his late residence. The service was read by Rev. J. H. Hodgin, pastor of the First Church. Harry Clifford, of the "Cliff" Club, to "Thee a Kindly Light."

The active pallbearers, men in accordance with the wish of the deceased, were W. W. Butler, Easton, G. E. Newlin, A. L. D. E. Williams, and G. E. Williams. They are all members of the club, to which the major belonged, and always preferred to the club with a great many others.

The honorary pallbearers, many old-time friends and comrades of Maj. Klocke and company, were as follows: Charles W. C. Hubbell, James Slauson, Cassius Davis, Frank Wiggin, Alonzo W. Allen, and G. E. Williams. E. P. Clark, S. Q. Story, Petrich, J. Ross Clark, Gen. B. V. Viole, Gen. George W. Clark, Charles Whipple, Gen. J. E. Gen. William L. Alexander, C. Jones, Capt. James S. Pratt, Charles S. Gilbert.

The companions of the Major acted as escort in the funeral procession and were met at the cemetery by the members of Post. The latter then took of the services for the deceased. Quinn, Col. George Allen and Daubenspeck actively took part in the services. Capt. James S. France made the arrangements. Loyal Legion and the services received.

A beautiful floral tribute received. Among the organs which sent floral offerings were the California Legion, Placenta Orange Growers' Association, and the California Legion. Although Maj. Klocke was a member of Stanton Post, he was not a member of the California Legion. He was a member of the California Legion and the California Legion.

PLANK SIGNED BY FEDERALS.

Assignment to Club is Yet Undecided.

Pitcher Admits Deal but not Terms.

Mack, Unsurprised, Wishes
Him Luck.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
GETTYSBURG (Pa.) Dec. 2.—Eddie Plank of the Philadelphia Athletics signed a Federal League contract today. Harry Goldman, treasurer of the Baltimore club, came here and obtained the star pitcher's signature to a general contract, but it was not made known to which club in the Federal League Plank will be assigned. It is believed here that Plank will pitch for either St. Louis or Chicago.

Plank tonight admitted he signed the contract, but would not divulge the terms of the agreement or with which club he expected to be identified.

"I wish him the best of luck," said Connie Mack tonight, when told that Eddie Plank had signed a Federal League contract.

"Are you sorry to see him go?" Mack was asked.

"Oh, no," he replied. "I was through with him. He was after the money and was quite willing to go to the Federals."

"He was a wonderful pitcher," Mack said, in speaking of Plank's thirteen-year service with the Athletics. "and he is a good one yet."

"That Plank would jump to the Federals was not unexpected here. Manager Mack started the baseball world shortly after the conclusion of the world's series by announcing that he had asked waivers on Plank, Chief Bender and Jack Coombs. All the American League clubs did not waive on Plank and Bender and agent of several of them visited Plank at his home in Gettysburg in unsuccessful efforts to have him remain in the American League.

FATE OF JUMPERS YET UNDECIDED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Disposition of Eddie Plank and other American and National League stars who have recently signed, or are about to join the Federal League, will not be determined at present, said President James A. Gilmore tonight.

A complete list of players signed or pledged since peace negotiations were declared off will not be given out by the Federal League headquarters. Gilmore said. These announcements must come from the various clubs.

President Gilmore declared that the Federal League would take care of all players discarded by it under the ruling that each club should limit itself to twenty men.

FEDERAL CLUB ADDS THREE MEN.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Dec. 2.—Three new players have been added to the Indianapolis Federal League club, according to announcement made today by J. Edward Kraus, president of the club. They are Bert Peckoff, a left-hand pitcher of Lupton, Colo.; Fred Troutman, a right-hand pitcher, who won fifteen and lost eight games in the Wisconsin-Illinois League last year; and Joe Foster, a utility infielder, who played in one of the smaller western leagues last season.

DECISIONS AFFECT MINOR LEAGUES.

YANTZ AND SMITH EXCHANGED
BY VENICE AND PORTLAND.
SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Dec. 2.—The National Board of Arbitration of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues gave out today the following decisions relating to minor leagues:

The Springfield (Ill.) franchise in the I.L.L. League has been transferred to Rock Island, Ill.

The following players have been released by purchase:

By Rochester, N. Y., Frank L. Bruggy to Boston, National League; by Cleveland Association, Elmer J. Smith to Cleveland; by Boston, A. L. Hughes Rediet to Providence, R. I.; by Portland, Or., George Yantz to Venice, Cal.; by Venice, Cal., Clarence Smith to Portland, Ore.

WARHOP SIGNED WITH YANKEES.

FREEPORT (Ill.) Dec. 2.—Jack Warhop, cured of a strained tendon in the right shoulder, it was learned today, recently signed a three-year contract with the New York American League baseball club at an increased salary. Warhop took treatment for his lame pitching arm in Freeport.

New York, N. Y., Thursday.

Baltimore, Md., Friday.

Philadelphia, Pa., Saturday.

After his fight with Joe Rivers, which takes place at Vernon next Tuesday, Johnny Dundee will undertake the most sensational stunt ever attempted by any pugilist.

He will fight six of the best lightweight in the ring on six consecutive nights. The fights will be held in six different States. Johnny's manager, Scotty Monteith, is now arranging the schedules and closing the six matches.

"We will probably begin Johnny's busy week in Newark, N. J.," said Scotty last night. "We will fight there before Gus Trosler's club, on Monday night—very likely the first Monday in the year."

"Johnny will take the train at 1 a. m. after the fight, for Boston. Tuesday night we will fight Matty Baldwin at the Atlas Athletic Club. The train leaves Boston for Providence at midnight. We will be on it in Providence, R. I., we will probably box Joe Phillips, the champion of New England, there."

"The severity of his task is shown by the class of his opponents. They are the best lightweight to be had. We have chosen boys who are the best liked in their home towns. This is a punishing-the-favorite-sun tour. I think it has never been equalled by any lightweight in the world."

IMPERIAL CLUB LEADS VALLEY LEAGUE TEAMS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
IMPERIAL, Dec. 2.—Imperial today leads the Imperial Valley League as the result of a defeat handed the Calexico club on the Imperial diamond.

Ryan started the slants for Imperial and lasted seven innings, fanning taking his place in the eighth. Greer went the entire distance for Calexico, but had several bad innings which were disastrous for the visitors. Schmidt retired in the sixth with a damaged finger, Williams going behind the bat, Hosp to first, Litschi to short and Hill to right field. The score:

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Business in the Stock Exchange today

showed a further reactionary trend,

There was some of the less conspicuous

There was a further inquiry for

The demand for these securities was particularly noted in the

The market was generally

The loan assumed

MANY HUNDREDS
AFTER NICKELS.

"JITNEY" BUS PERMIT CRAZE
RUNS RAMPANT.

Office of Police Commission Secretary Flooded with Applications and Double Hoodoo Number Reached in Volume of One Day's Business—Equal Rights Here.

The Los Angeles Railway Corporation and the Pacific Electric Railway Company have more than 500 miles of the best possible electric railway track in Los Angeles, and have been giving a transportation service of such a character that the citizens have been wont to "point with pride" thereto when the newcomers arrive. But the "jitney" bus craze is still running rampant. The demand for passenger carrying permits has reached the stage of an epidemic.

Yesterday was a record-breaker. More than six hundred applications were made in person at the office of Secretary McKee of the Police Commission. The line extended out into the corridors and lasted well until closing time.

At the close of business hours at Secretary McKee's office yesterday the records showed that there have been issued 1313 permits for autos to engage in the public passenger carrying business; that 1112 men are engaged in the business and that there are 1285 permits issued to chauffeurs. That equal rights applies to the nickel-chasers in automobiles is shown by the fact that numerous women are holders of chauffeur and passenger automobile permits. Several women were among the applicants yesterday.

A reasonable regulation of this new class of transportation business is certain to follow, and the various documents, petitions, resolutions, etc., that have been filed on this subject at the City Hall have all been referred to the Public Utilities Committee of the City Council. It is probable that a series of public hearings on the subject will be held before definite legislation is formulated.

The transient character of a large class of this sort of transportation business is indicated by the dropping off of the service during the last rain.

"SAFETY VALVES."

PROVIDING PUBLIC FORUMS.

Public forums, which members of the City Council have designated "safety valves" for the people, are to be erected immediately at the old Plaza. The Council has so ordered. The money is provided, the order authorizing the Board of Public Works to proceed has been given, and Purchasing Agent Baker today will advertise for bids for the construction. Early next week the work may be started.

It is proposed to erect two of these public forums, one at the northeast corner of the Plaza, and another at the southeast corner of the Plaza. The design is in the form of the shape being somewhat like a pulpit, the dimensions being 10.8x4 feet, and four feet in height, with a scroll effect on the curved frontage.

Recently the City Council opened Eighth street from Olive street eastward, to public speaking, and each night there have been raucous harangues at Eighth street, between Hill and Broadway, and at other points along this highway until the business men have become disgusted, and have filed a protest asking the Council to close the street against public speaking. His protest will be heard before the Public Welfare Committee at 10 o'clock next Monday morning.

With the erection of the public forums at the Plaza it is possible that street speaking will be diverted to that locality, where there is an abundance of room, without the interference of much traffic.

HURRY-UP CALL.

FOR BROADWAY OPENING.

Austin O. Martin, manager of the Los Angeles Investment Company, yesterday filed an appeal to the City Council to take such steps as seem necessary to insure the completion of the assessment for the opening of Broadway, between Tenth and Pico streets, within the expiration of time now granted, which will expire on December 30. The present extension is the second one that has been granted for the completion of this work.

"It seems unquestionable," says this appeal, "that this work is of far greater importance than the average. This matter of the Assessment Bureau, and that the period of four months to be terminated with this extension should be ample sufficient for the completion of the work."

SEWAGE DISPOSAL.

STATE HAS CONTROL.

The city proposes to construct and operate a sewage disposal plant on tide lands southwesterly of McFarland street, Wilmington, but the members of the Council and Board of Public Works have been doubtful as to the municipality's rights, in view of the State law pertaining to the discharge of effluent from sewers into the sea. The proposed plant would discharge into the waters of the inner harbor.

The subject was referred to the City Attorney, and he will advise the Council today that the act creating and defining the authority of the State Board of Health is literally broad enough to require the city to conform to provisions and rules of the board, but that there is a difference of opinion among lawyers as to whether the language used should not be so construed as to limit the operation of the act to cities incorporated under the general municipal corporation act, and not extend it to cities incorporated under freholder charters. Courts of appeal have not passed upon this question, but the City Attorney says it is his opinion to comply with the terms of the act and the rules of the State Board of Health.

HERE ARE FIGURES.

AQUEDUCT POWER STATEMENT.

D. S. Parks, chief accounting officer for the Aqueduct Power Bureau, filed with the Board of Public Works yesterday a condensed financial statement of the power project up to November 30, in which some interesting figures are presented.

This report shows that the works now under way cost $2,500,000. This includes the San Francisco Canyon plant No. 1, a waterway leading from the Elizabeth tunnel to plant No. 1, and a waterway leading from plant No. 1 to the aqueduct tunnel No. 72. There is also included the costs of preliminary and general engineering and executive expenses and rights of way, also roads, buildings, pipe lines, live stock and other equipment used in construction, from which certain salvage can be recovered when work is completed.

The materials on hand, consisting of warehouse stocks, machinery and equipment stored in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Pittsburg, pending installation, and transmission; copper and insulators stored in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego, total $752,685, making the total value of the works under construction and the materials and equipment on hand $4,302,580.

The floating assets and liabilities amount to $280,612.52, while the accounts receivable and cash amount to $249,042.17, thus showing an excess liability of $31,570.75.

Among the liabilities is included the loan from the city general fund of $121,500, made to keep the organization intact and the work progressing pending the sale of the power bonds.

Also of Record.
By unanimous vote of the City Council yesterday provision was made for an appropriation of $2000 to carry the work of the United Charities until the new year, at which time the county will undertake the financing of the organization.

An ordinance providing for the character of buildings that may be erected on the city's harbor lands is being prepared by the Harbor Commission and will be presented to the City Council with request for its passage, within a short time.

The Harbor Commission proposes to erect a 200-foot addition to the fish wharf at San Pedro, to accommodate the demand for leases. The addition will be made at the southerly end of the present building. Harbor engineer Jubb was instructed yesterday to make a detailed report to the commission on the entire project. The new section will require the dredging of a considerable area to a depth that will accommodate the heavier fishing craft.

The report of the committee on a new system of fire alarm and police telegraph was referred by the City Council yesterday to the Public Safety Committee, and it will be considered at a meeting to be held next Tuesday forenoon.

Health Commissioner Powers has transferred George R. Cooke, Health Inspector at the harbor, to the city, and R. A. Brown succeeds Mr. Cooke. Mr. Cooke will do special work for the health department in the city proper.

TEN CENTS FOR EVERY MINUTE.

COIN COMES FAST FOR BELL-HOP IN JAIL.

New York Mining Engineer Who Said He Lost Some Money in His Room at Alexandria Is Forced to Pay Hotel Employee for False Arrest.

T. Lindsay, a mining engineer of New York, reached the Alexandria Hotel from Arizona at 2 o'clock on the morning of June 1 last. He pushed the button in his room and Robert Calhoun, a bellboy, responded.

"Have these clothes pressed," he directed as he peeled off the travel-stained garments, removing a handful of gold and silver and a bulky pocketbook from the pockets and tossing them on the bureau. Calhoun, a bright-faced young man, said, "Yes, sir," and departed with the clothes.

Mr. Lindsay returned to his room, leaving the gold and silver and the pocketbook on the bureau, and the door of the room unlocked.

When he awoke he reported that $30 in gold was missing. The pocketbook was intact with its wealth of $200.

"I have been robbed," ejaculated Mr. Lindsay. He thought of the bright-faced bellboy who had come to his room and the pocketbook which he had taken. He was the guilty person. Young Calhoun was arrested when he came on duty at 10 o'clock that night and put in jail. He protested his innocence.

The City Prosecutor refused to issue a warrant for his arrest, and he was released from custody after paying sixteen hours in jail. Yesterday Judge Shenk gave him judgment for $100 for the time he was in jail, which was about $6 an hour, Calhoun bringing suit for false imprisonment.

The court held that the conduct of Officers Carroll and McNamara, who made the arrest, was contrary to the statutes. They were not justified in making the arrest without a warrant, as the alleged crime was a misdemeanor and was not committed in their presence.

Nothing was allowed for special damages, as it was not set up in the complaint that Calhoun had been discharged by reason of his arrest charged with a crime.

DOMESTIC INFELICITY.

DAUGHTER'S RAY OF LIGHT.

The ray of sunshine in the lives of Andrew Williamson and his wife, Jessie Ray Williamson, is their daughter, Dorothy Ray Williamson, 2 years old. Around about them beat the dark clouds of domestic infelicity. Mr. Williamson says it is a case of too much mother-in-law. Mrs. Williamson says her husband is cruel.

The parties were in Judge Monroe's court yesterday, the wife seeking a divorce. This is the second venture. In June last year she obtained a decree, but four days later they made up and lived together until autumn, when she left him. A note told Mr. Williamson she was going home to her mother.

He went to her mother-in-law's home to see Dorothy, and cooled his heels on the front porch waiting for his wife to return with her. Dorothy with him ostensibly for ice cream, and Mrs. Williamson recovered her through the aid of a deputy Sheriff.

The net results of their court experiences is that Mr. Williamson gave his wife the divorce. Mrs. Williamson was on the stand yesterday when the case was continued until this morning.

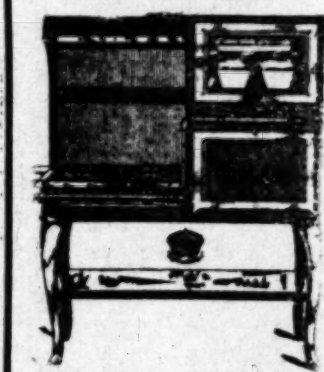

WILL IT STAND?

MEMORY ON TEST.

The marvelous memory displayed by Attorney Francis H. Boland, who for three days has retained in his mind covering a year with Mrs. Jenny H. S. Roe Tufts before a jury in Judge McCormick's court in his suit against her to recover attorney's fees, will be subjected to a severer test when he is taken over the route again by the attorney for Mrs. Tufts.

These interviews back up Mr. Boland's claim of having been retained by Mrs. Tufts in the various suits in involving her husband. Yesterday he told how Mr. Tufts had been shadowed by detectives, one even being in the County Jail when Mr. Tufts was confined following a conviction for having obtained money belonging to his wife under false pretenses.

Mr. Boland said he employed an agency in this city, one in Chicago, and his father's agency in New York, at the request of Mrs. Tufts, and that he paid for the services with her money. He was arrested by the City thorough investigation of her husband's career, his character and his religious associations. The reports of the detectives came to Mr. Boland, and he said he submitted them to Mrs. Tufts. Charles T. Farnell, the alleged "love slave," was also under surveillance.

The reunited Tufts deny these purported interviews. They will present a solid front on the stand. Mr. Boland, they say, framed up the whole thing to make business for himself.

IT'S A DRAW.

SO EACH AGREES.

The litigants in a boundary-line dispute admitted yesterday that Judge Tufts' decision was a draw. The suit by the Whittier Extension Company and others against various defendants involved the boundary between the old Rancho La Puente and the lands of E. J. Baldwin near Hudson station in San Jose Valley.

The line is 12,000 feet long and between thirty and forty feet wide. The corporation claimed the line was about forty feet further east than the old fence built a score of years ago. The defendants claimed the line was about thirty feet further west. The court established it as between the two posts at the end of the old fence built by Mr. Hudson.

Among the exhibits yesterday was a map made by County Surveyor George Hansen in 1871. Old records of the locality were dipped into. The defendants included Victoria R. Hudson, Henry R. Friedman, Company and others. Y. R. Del Valle, J. W. Hendricks, R. F. Phillip, F. H. Sloan, George E. Wenberg and others.

COLT AS PET.

ONCE SO, ALWAYS SO.

A pet colt was introduced into the complaint of Mrs. Sarah T. Langdon for divorce from William B. Langdon. The colt was set up as contributing to one of the many acts of cruelty charged against Mr. Langdon. He is 15 and commenced the court suit in his divorce action before Judge Monroe yesterday. Mrs. Langdon said her husband threatened to sell the colt and wanted to keep it because she had raised it. His threats to dispose of the colt was to keep it as a pet, and thereby she suffered mentally.

"But you can't always keep the colt a pet; it will grow too big for that," commented the court, but in her mind, once a pet, always a pet. The decree was granted on the ground of desertion and non-support.

MAKING CRIMINALS.

YOUTH GIVEN OWN CASE.

"I came here to see my mother's agent," sobbed William B. McDaniels, aged 17, in the juvenile court yesterday. This was his explanation why he had left his home at Roseburg, Or., and was arrested in this city for holding up a lunch wagon man. His mother, he later admitted, died in 1909.

Willie imbibed the idea of living without work by listening to the tales of robberies hobo on the road told him by the Southern Pacific and relieving him of his revolver. With the aid of the revolver he held career stopped short. Judge Taft sent him to live during his minority.

WHIPPING DEFORMITY.

SCHOOL IS VINDICATED.

Henry Marsh, aged 15, has a deformed back. His mother asserted that the deformity was due to a beating he had received from a teacher of the Truist School. An investigation of the facts put another phase on the matter.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

SUIT ON INTEREST. Alleging that Ward McFadden had an interest in $15,000 worth of furniture and furnishings, the wife sought to recover that and there is due $18,500 for rent on a ten-month lease. G. M. Jones yesterday filed a complaint for a chattel mortgage upon Mr. McFadden's interest, and also asked for a temporary order restraining him from removing or disposing of the furniture and furnishings.

THE CITY. The Efficiency Director told the Board of Public Works how the city can save $1,120,000 annually by changes in its business administration.

Property owners taxed by the Board of Public Works are given ten days to pay. They must not let property under bond by Monday. The measure suits affects but one holding. A movement was started to get 10,000 loyal Angelenos to attend the opening of the Southland exposition at San Diego.

The mystery of an unknown man dead hanging from a rafter at Ocean Park was solved with the burning of his head, which had been preserved for a year in a separate grave. The charges of immorality in the school fell down.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. Classes of Pasadena's society women have been invited to knit clothing for the suffering soldiers of Europe.

Two elderly men are watching the waves at Long Beach for the bodies of the missing, believed to have committed suicide.

Twenty-five vessels docked at the harbor last month, despite the adverse weather conditions caused by the war.
